CHARLESTOWN REVOLTS AGAINST STATE POLICE

RECTOR'S HEARING IS SET BY BISHOP; MUNDY A MEMBER OF CHURCH COURT

Rev. Richard Wilkinson Will Be Tried By Ecclesiastical Board
DISPUTE AROSE OVER WATCH NIGHT SERVICE
June 6 Designated As Date For the Hearing In Troy, Alabama

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-Decatur Daily)
MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 8. — Interest of members of the Episcopal church throughout the United States was created Saturday with the announcement that Bishop C. M. Beck with had set June 6 as the date and Troy, Alabama, as the place for the trial before an ecclesiastical court of Dr. Richard Wilkinson, rector of St. John's church here, on charges of violating a general canon of the church and his ordination vows.
Bishop Beck with preferred the charges several weeks ago but delayed the selection of the time and place until this week. From eight names submitted by the bishop Dr. Wilkinson has selected Dr. M. G. McDowell, of Auburn, Rev. T. G. Mundy of Albany and Rev. Oscar Dew Randolph of Birmingham as members of the court which will establish his innocence or guilt.
The dispute between Bishop Beck with and Dr. Wilkinson came from a watch night service in the Parish House of St. John's church New Year's Eve when Rabbi William B. Schwartz of Temple Beth-Or delivered an address on "The Attitude of the Modern Jew Towards Jesus." contends that Dr. Wilkinson violated a general canon of the church and his ordination vows by permitting a person outside the church to hold services within without the permission of the bishop.
Dr. Wilkinson contends that the parish house has never been consecrated and that Rabbi Schwartz had the right, with the permission of the vestry, to make the address.
Shortly after the bishop preferred the charges against Dr. Wilkinson, he was requested to name a time and place in order that the trial might not be delayed, according to a statement in connection with the trial issued today by Judge Walter B. Jones, a member of the vestry. Judge Jones declared an injustice has been done Dr. Wilkinson by the delay in the consideration of the charges by the proper tribunal.
Members of the vestry of St. John's church are standing as one man with Dr. Wilkinson and have announced that they will take whatever action they may deem necessary to prove that Dr. Wilkinson violated neither a general canon of the church nor his ordination vows.

Resurfacing Work Is Being Rushed

The first of the resurfacing projects authorized by the city of Albany recently is being completed, it being that portion of Johnson street between Second and Eighth avenues. The work will be continued west along this street to a point just east of the Louisville and Nashville railroad tracks. There are several other resurfacing projects which will be completed as soon as the work can be done. These streets when completed will be as good as the best.

CURTIS TO APPEAR
MONTGOMERY, Ala., May 8. — Special Judge J. J. Curtis of the fourteenth judicial circuit will appear before the court of appeals next Thursday in answer to the court's rule nisi directing him to show why he should not be required to vacate an order dismissing C. R. Walker, editor of a Carbon Hill newspaper, who is accused of criminal libel in Montgomery.

Baltimore Fire On Waterfront Menaces Boats

(International News Service.)
BALTIMORE, May 8. — Fire this afternoon swept Pier 8 of Canton company, in the eastern waterfront section of the city and the steamship Barbaros, loaded with nitrate of soda, and a lighter along side the ship on which the cargo was being loaded.
The fire started a few minutes after one o'clock and spread rapidly. Within a short time after the first alarm, two more had been sounded and as the firemen approached the scene, there were a number of explosions, scattering the blaze.
Pier 8, adjoining the blazing pier, was in danger because of sparks and blazing embers scattered by the explosion.

Local Sunday Schools, With Bigger Attendances, Are Planning Annexes

The threat of rain was withdrawn Sunday morning in time to encourage the hundreds of church and Sunday school goers of the Twin Cities to make their usual trips to their respective places of meeting, the congregations being unusually large at most of the churches. The attendances reported from the Sunday school were large and in a number of instances action was taken looking to the immediate erection of larger quarters for the Sunday school classes.
Such action was taken by at least two Sunday schools—the First Presbyterian and the First Methodist schools of Decatur. A very large attendance was out at the last named school yesterday. It was "Annex Day" and reports were heard from the different classes as to the pledges and collections they had secured in the last few weeks. Totals according to James H. Johnson, superintendent, showed that the cash and time pledges made yesterday amounted to near $3,000; while another fund collected some years ago amounting to over $3,000 is to be added to this amount. A. J. Harris, a member of the building committee for the Methodist annex, stated that the entire amount now available for the new building was close to $7,000. The class membership contest lately terminated in favor of the Matthews Bible class of women, was carried on yesterday, with the Matthews class leading the entire women membership of the church in a campaign for funds to increase the amounts already pledged for the annex. Reports showed that the women have defeated the men so far by a total of over $100. Thus, it was declared the men had sustained a second reverse lately.
July 9 will end the quarter, and on that date another "Annex Day" will be held. Dr. B. B. Glasgow, President of Athens College for Women, occupied the pulpit of Dr. Davenport in his absence, yesterday morning, preaching from the Savior's injunction, to love and forgive all enemies. The speaker made many striking statements during his forceful sermon, one of which was, "The gates of heaven are barred against the man of an unforgiving disposition."
A unique evidence of the need of larger accommodations for classes was

Mrs. Bankhead Much Improved Davison Leaves A Huge Estate

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, May 8. — Mrs. John H. Bankhead, widow of the late Senator Bankhead and mother of Congressman Bankhead, of Alabama, ill since last Wednesday with a complication of heart and kidney trouble, was reported today to be somewhat improved. Congressman Bankhead said that while her condition still was critical, physicians were hopeful of an early recovery.

THANKS
The Daily is indebted to Frank P. Lide for a handsome little calendar which reached our desk this morning. The title is "Happy Days", and shows children in the wild-wood plucking beautiful flowers out in nature's garden. It is a forcible reminder of the time when days like these depicted were greatly enjoyed. Amid the daily duties of stress and worry incident to modern day business, sign boards like this one is greatly refreshing to look upon.

(International News Service.)
NEW YORK, May 8. — Henry P. Davison, noted financier, and partner of J. P. Morgan, left a fortune of approximately $10,000,000, according to estimates of intimate friends today.
He carried $2,000,000 insurance, three quarters of which was written as late as 1917, when he was ranked by the examiners as a "first class risk."
He was then said to be a man without a medical history. By his own wish, expressed before he entered the operating room Saturday, Davison will be buried in the Locust Valley cemetery, after services tomorrow at the church of St. John's of Lattingtown, which will seat only 250 persons.
Honorary pallbearers, announced today, include J. P. Morgan and partners, and several men known as great leaders in Wall street.

RUSSIA WILL REPLY WITHIN 24 HOURS TO ALLIED STATEMENT; PROPOSE NEW LOAN

M. Barthou's Demand Called Private Ultimatum By the Soviet Delegates
TENSION INCREASED BY COUNTER CHARGE
Lloyd George Said To Have Given Warning To The French

(International News Service.)
GENOA, May 8. — The Russian delegation to the international economic conference will reply within 24 hours to the demand of Louis Barthou, head of the French delegation, for a show down on the allies conditions for the recognition of the Soviet government.
The Russians claim that M. Barthou's demand for a yes or no answer is a "private ultimatum". It is admitted that the tension has been increased. The Russians contend further that the declaration of M. Barthou was a deliberate challenge and that it was designed to put the blame for a possible breakup of the conference on Russia.
The Belgians, apparently, have washed their hands of the allied document, while M. Barthou came back from Paris with instructions not to approve the memorandum until Belgium did so.
It is reported in British circles that Premier Lloyd George is considerably piqued over the French attitude and that he has informed M. Barthou that the Anglo-French treaty is at an end and that Great Britain considers herself free to cultivate other friendships. Another version is that Premier Lloyd George has told the French they must choose between Belgium and Great Britain.
Sir George Paish, famous British economist, who is in Genoa, in a statement today, suggested that a loan be made to Russia to be known as the "allied hunger loan", and that its use be limited strictly to fighting famine. It would be expended under allied control.

PARSONS OUTLINES HIS MUSCLE SHOALS OFFER TO SENATORS

(International News Service.)
WASHINGTON, May 8. — Charles L. Parsons, chemical expert, rival of Henry Ford, today urged upon the senate agricultural committee to approve his offer for partial control of the Muscle Shoals nitrate project.
Parsons declared if he obtained a lease to the nitrate plant number two, he would furnish calcium carbide for fertilizing purpose at 6 per cent profit. This is two per cent less than the profit asked by Henry Ford for manufacturing the finished product.
Parsons's offer, involving the formation of a concern to be known as the Southern Nitrate Corporation, included:
1. Purchase of 10,000 kilowatts of second horsepower developed at Muscle Shoals at 7.5 mills per kilowatt.
2. Purchase for $600,000 of all the property known as nitrate plant No. 1.
3. Option to lease the carbide section of the nitrate plant number two, with transmission lines at $50,000 a year.
4. Option to purchase the Waco quarry with tracks, etc., for $200,000 or to lease it for $20,000 a year.
Parsons specifically stated that it was being backed by any of the conflicting interests now seeking control of Muscle Shoals.

CONDITION CALL
WASHINGTON, May 8. — The comptroller of the currency today issued a call for the conditions of national banks at the close of business May 5.

Feeling High As Police Capture Militia Officer

(International News Service.)
CHARLESTON, West Va., May 8. — Peaceful Charleston, scene of the murder and treason trials of the militant miners who marched in battle array on Mingo last summer was virtually in open revolt today against the West Virginia state constabulary and clamoring for their removal from the town.
Public feeling is running high, following the arrest of Mack B. Lilly, a lieutenant of the constabulary, for disorderly conduct. Guns were brought into play, but not used in Lilly's arrest by the local police officials.
Despite the freely expressed demands of citizens that the constabulary be run out of town, local authorities, following a conference today, decided that a formal demand would not be made for the withdrawal of the police, although Mayor Morgan said that the troopers were not wanted.
The upshot of the parley was the withdrawal of the charges against Lieutenant Lilly.

HARTSELLE ASKS RESURFACING OF DANVILLE ROAD

The Morgan County board of revenue is in session here today. This is the regular monthly meeting of the board, at which time routine business will be transacted.
A delegation of citizens from Hartselle went before the board today seeking to get some relief from the very bad conditions which prevail at this time on the west pike between Hartselle and Danville. Hartselle citizens will make a strong representation to the board that work begin on the resurfacing of this stretch of road. A large travel daily comes over this road and it is imperative that something be done to make it passable, it is declared. As a large portion of the trade of Hartselle comes over this road, the committee of citizens will tell the board that the trade of Hartselle will be very materially affected unless steps are taken at once to put this road in a passable condition.
Several citizens from the Danville community were also present working in connection with the delegation of citizens from Hartselle to effect the plan sought. Among the citizens of the two places present and who are active for the measure are the following: D. W. McNeill, H. A. Harris, Ed. Harris, J. O. Burleson, L. B. Sandlin, T. R. Ryan, Richard Winton, J. E. Freeman, Owen McCutcheon, J. E. Weinmann, Robt. L. Garner, E. L. Hays and others. The committee was given a hearing among the first business of the court. The members of the board of revenue seemed favorable to the plan, and it is quite probable that a plan of procedure will be worked out at this session. The board now has the matter under advisement.

Revival Services Come To a Close

With the largest congregation present in the history of his church Rev. R. F. Stuckey last night drew his two weeks revival meeting to a close, preaching his last sermon on the Bible story of the return of the Prodigal son. The total number of accessions to the church, which is located in East Albany, was thirty. With many giving testimony of strengthened determination to hold out in the Christian way. The entire effort of the revival was made by local workers and mostly by members of the home congregation, in fact it has been termed a "Home Revival."
The sermons were preached in each instance by the pastor, and the song and prayer services were by members of the congregation. Yesterday three inspiring services were held. The sunrise prayer meeting in the early morning, the 11 o'clock service and the one last at night. An important action of the entire church on the first Sunday night of the meeting was to pay in the entire amount of money due from the membership to the $75,000,000 Missionary Fund, now being raised by Baptists throughout the Southern connection.

FULL PROTECTION FOR AMERICANS IS MEXICAN DEMAND FROM UNCLE SAM

Declaration of Conditions Given By the State Department Monday
MAGAZINE ARTICLE IS CAUSE OF ANGER
Department Indignant at Story Which Will Be Published Soon

WASHINGTON, May 8. — With unusual emphasis it was made clear today that the United States cannot and will not recognize the Obregon government or any other administration in Mexico until guarantees are given that the property of American citizens will not be confiscated under the provisions of the Carranza constitution.
The policy enunciated today was the most forceful expression of views on the Mexican situation that have come from any officials of the administration since last June 7, when Secretary of State Hughes laid down the conditions upon which normal, friendly intercourse could be resumed with Mexico City, saying "whenever Mexico is ready to give assurances that she will perform her fundamental obligations in protection, both of persons and rights of property validly acquired under her own laws, there will be no obstacle to the most advantageous relation between the two people."
This is still the policy of the United States toward Mexico, it was forcefully stated today. The thing which brought forth the enunciation of policy was an article shortly to appear in a magazine, which outlines a purported list of conditions which the United States have communicated to Mexico.
These purported conditions included, among other things, control of Mexican elections and preferential rights of American capital. Seldom has the publication of anything so aroused officials of the state department as had this. It was declared officially as "atrocious" and a "patch-work of lies without any vestige of truth in it."

Slight Damage Is Done By Storm

At 4 o'clock Saturday a wind which assumed storm proportions swooped down on Albany and Second Avenue. The wind preceded a cloud which came from the southwest, and before one could hardly realize it the fury of the storm was on. The following is a summary of some of the damage wrought; several automobiles were stripped of their tops; considerable damage was done to the Albany city hall, glass broken out and a portion of the roof torn away; the roof of the Delite theater suffered to some extent; a portion of the old Model laundry was blown off; trees were uprooted and other minor damage reported.
In South Albany it is understood that a kitchen was blown down and some other damage reported from that section. The force of the storm seemed to have been spent on a portion of 2nd Avenue from southwest to northeast. Between Albany and Hartselle along the line of the railroad many trees were noted blown down near the right of way. At Hartselle some shade trees on Main street east of the railroad were wrecked. No one was injured so far as information is obtainable.

Placing Fixtures In Albany Office

The fixtures for the Albany post-office have been put in position and the screen on top of fixtures are being placed today. Due to the non arrival of two or three special pieces of furniture, which it is necessary to have before the move can be made, delay has been experienced in moving the office.
There is quite a rush on today to secure lock boxes and it is necessary to make the selection and report to the postmaster at the old office in order to secure the particular box one might wish.
It is confidently believed by Postmaster Huie, that everything can be moved during the days of this week, and by Thursday everything will be installed in the new home. There are nine city carriers to provide for, in addition to four rural carriers. It is some of the furniture to be used in the distribution of the mails that is now being waited on. The new building will be large and roomy with plenty of light, and every convenience will be installed to make it one of the very best offices in the country.

WE FAVOR ACCEPTANCE OF HENRY FORD'S BID FOR MUSCLE SHOALS.

ONE GREAT GOVERNMENTAL AGENCY.

THAT IS LOOKING OUT FOR ITSELF.

The American people have grown up with their postal system. The arrival and departure of our mails has become quite as much a part of our lives as the rains the dews from heaven and the rising and setting of the sun. Whether the mails could be handled by private concerns more cheaply or more efficiently than by the government has never been discussed and probably never will be—for the postal service began with the government—it has become an integral part of the government as well as of our daily lives. Outside of the people, the chief beneficiaries of our postal system are the Railroads—they are said to carry 216,666 mail cars, enough if placed end to end to reach from New York city to Denver, Col. It is estimated that books, magazines, parcels, letters and postals sent through the mail annually weigh six and one half million pounds. One of the very few shrewd business deals credited to the government since its founding some hundred and fifty years ago, is its buying mail privileges by the amount of space used in cars, and its selling by weight to the publishers. Criticism has been leveled against such a practice, but as long as the postal department pays its own way, and as long as it remains the only governmental agency that does pay for its keep, little attention will be paid to such criticism. Another good piece of business carried out by the postal department is the careful way in which mail is loaded into the mail cars. Because there is a limit as to the weight as to the weight a car may carry, and as much of the mail is so heavy that the space bought would not be filled before the load limit was reached, it is the practice to fill part of the car with heavy material and part of it with lighter mail matter, thus every inch of the space paid for is utilized. According to the Zone system determined upon some time ago by the government it makes business good for it, by charging the publisher who sends second class mail matter more and more the further his business is from where his papers are dropped into the mail, whereas the Railroad charges increase at a very slow pace as the distance lengthens. This is shown from the following figures taken from the Nashville Banner as prepared by some railroad officials not long ago that showed the average loading of sixty-foot cars (second-class matter exclusively) to be 42,000 pounds. It is a generally accepted fact that most sixty-foot cars are stenciled at 35,000 pounds capacity, and it is also a general rule, that they may be loaded to a margin of 10 per cent in excess of the stenciled capacity.

The distance to a city in the third zone from the office of entry of the publications is 226.80 miles. The government pays the railroad $79.38 for the car haul for that distance. The publisher pays the government, assuming the publications carry 50 per cent advertising and 50 per cent reading matter, $945 in postage. In the fourth zone the government pays $221.06 and the postage charged to the publisher amounts to $1,365. In the fifth zone the government pays $336.33 for car-haul and the publisher pays $1,575 in postage. In the eighth zone (all territory 1,800 miles or more from the point of origin) the government will pay $1,130.35 to a city 3,229.55 miles from the office of origin, and the publisher pays $2,415.

This seeming discrimination against the publishers has not prevented them from co-operating with the government in handling the vast business done in second class mail matter. For example, the government is allowed to designate the points at which it will take the second class mail, and the publishers then send their packages to these points by private means, thus saving the government large amounts of money in clerk hire. As matters now stand the publishers do most of the distribution of their wares, except that of handing out the second class mail at the final delivery window, and the delivery to the subscriber on the rural routes.

DISCUSSES WAYS AND MEANS.

Despite the slow progress of the Genoa conference, according to dispatches at least one gain has been made—European statesmen have at last recognized that they have real problems, and that they must be settled in some way. Ever since the Versailles treaty was signed up to the present time, the game of the countries interested in a final solution, have contented themselves with merely talking. The two main contentions are and have been—the enforcement of the Versailles treaty against Germany, and the problem presented by Bolshevik Russia. The Germans have put in most of their time since November 1918 groaning and complaining that the indemnity imposed by the Versailles treaty, if paid would bankrupt Germany and ruin her forever but have made little or no effort to pay the smallest part of their war debts. The English have confined themselves to preachments on the importance of tolerance on the part of all concerned and "accommodation" to conditions as they are—the general inference being that France should surrender some of her treaty claims. The French have insisted on the enforcement of the Versailles treaty to the letter, and the chances at the present are that unless reparation claims due from Germany May 31st, are paid on or before that date, a French army will invade Germany and occupy more of her territory. It is claimed that the French have been maintaining the largest standing army in the world for this purpose, and that Germany is maintaining a secret army with which to resist such an invasion. It is believed that this and similar considerations have sobered the delegates to the Genoa conference and that genuine if wake efforts are now being made to avert further blood shed.

Most of Europe and the rest of the world seem agreed that France should have her money, but the idea also prevails that Germany must not be destroyed in the scramble to collect it.

As regards Russia, the idea has prevailed, that since her Bolshevik government has not kept faith, and has exerted a destructive influence, the thing to do is to ignore the very presence of the great Russian bear. Exactly the same attitude of mind some individuals take toward those of whom they disapprove. Because the Genoa conference seems to be making an honest effort to deal with the Russian question indicates that the folly of isolation has been recognized and given up.

At present the Western nations seem inclined to go further in an effort to meet the Russian demands that could have been expected a few years ago. However, distasteful it may be to have to treat with the Soviet representatives such a course would seem to be the wisest one under the circumstances.

Indeed, the swing of the pendulum in this direction has been so far out, that there is serious talk of an alliance between Russia, England and Germany. Should France steadfastly refuse any compromises, such an alliance might result.

What the final results at Genoa will be there is no way to surmise, but the mere fact that the delegates to that conference have gotten down to a discussion of ways and means, indicates that there is a turn toward sanity among European statesmen.

ANOTHER GOOD WAY TO REDUCE THE COST OF LIVING

The United States Department of Agriculture, under date of March 10th gave official endorsement of a process called "Dehydration," as a scientific means of treating fruits and vegetables, so as to enable truckers and farmers to store large quantities of food products for the winter months in the very localities in which the fruits and vegetables are raised, thereby saving the consumer considerable money on his food bills. In speaking of the process of "dehydration," W. G. Camrall, acting chief of the bureau of chemistry of the department of agriculture says:

"The Bureau is concerned with the fundamental, scientific, and technological features of dehydration, and with this purpose in view, maintains an experimental laboratory in Washington and also conducts cooperative work relating to dehydration at Berkeley with the University of California, and at Corvallis with the Oregon Agricultural College. The majority of fruits and vegetables can now be dehydrated successfully, with the result that the dehydrated products, when refreshed in water, compare favorably with the fresh products. It is our firm belief that such a process is an admirable one for the utilization of an untold number of food products which are difficult to keep in good condition, the entire output of which cannot be consumed locally, but must be transported long distances for consumption in other parts of the country.

Dehydrated fruits find a more ready market than dehydrated vegetables, due primarily to the fact that the public has not yet been thoroughly educated to the advantageous use of such vegetables. Since properly dehydrated fruits and vegetables have nothing removed but replaceable water, they contain all the food combinations and food values of the original materials. The natural color of the fresh product should be retained in the dried form, being intensified, however, by closer arrangement of the coloring matter, due to the reduced space occupied by the original fruit or vegetable, the proper color, however, being brought out on refreshing in water. The taste of dehydrated products should closely resemble the flavor of fresh products.

The Southern farmer and trucker will no doubt find dehydration as practical a method of food preservation as the farmers and truckers of any other section in the U. S. In considering this method of food preservation, the locality should receive first thought. Certainly it would be unwise to establish a plant for the dehydration of vegetables in a community where vegetables are not or cannot be successfully grown in quantities sufficient to provide the plant with raw material at a fair price for an optimum period of operation.

The cost of fresh or green vegetables during the winter months in the northern markets far exceeds that of dehydrated vegetables and in many cases canned vegetables of the best grade are more expensive than good dehydrated vegetables. The marketing of dehydrated vegetables is more difficult than the dehydration of the vegetables. The American market has not been sufficiently developed to absorb a large annual production of dehydrated products. We anticipate however that the market for these products will eventually be developed and that the industry will become firmly established."

The following well known American phrases in time past went ringing round the world and carried a meaning with them:

"First in War. First in Peace, and First in the hearts of his Countrymen."

"The shot heard round the world", the Battle of Lexington.

"You may fire when ready Gridley", Commodore George Dewey to Captain Charles V. Gridley, of the warship Olympia, at the battle of Manila.

"Millions for defense but not one cent for tribute." Spoken by President James Madison when pirates demanded tribute from the U. S.

"We must hang together or we will hang separately". Benjamin Franklin, when he signed the Declaration of American Independence.

"Governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed."—Thomas Jefferson.

"Armistice Day." The Eleventh hour of the Eleventh day of the Eleventh month of 1918.

"Where do we go from here?"

"My men do not know how to retreat". A commanding officer of the A. E. F.

"Francis Scott Key; September 13, 1814, The Star Spangled Banner, written aboard a vessel rocked by the cannonade.

"Lord Cornwallis has surrendered," Yorktown, Va., October 19, 1781.

"The Monroe Doctrine, born December 2, 1823,"

"We owe it, therefore, to candor, and to the amicable relations existing between the U. S. and those powers, to declare that we should consider any attempt on their part to extend their system to any portion of this hemisphere, as dangerous to our peace and safety."—President James Monroe; his message to Congress.

With thirteen million dollars available for highway construction in the state, all Alabamians can hold up their heads proudly and announce to the country that we are engaged in one of the greatest road building projects ever attempted, in fact, not even thought of. There are only three states in the U. S. which have a larger federal road fund untied than Alabama. This state, long held backward by small appropriations for better highways has at last burst the crystal, and from now on this great state will be one of the really progressive states of the union, not only in many and well constructed highways, but in the many other things which naturally come and follow in their wake.

Miss Spring has arrived in the Twin Cities. She came in early morning, bearing the most pleasant smile all wreathed in sunshine's shimmering splendor. It was a great relief to all. The very unpleasant, unseasonable weather of the past two weeks has tried the patience of the best and least disposed to grumble. It is getting late in the season; many things ought to have been planted before now. Many of the gardens are still unplanted. Much of the cotton contemplated to be planted the present season is still unplanted. But, with pretty seasonable weather for two weeks, much of the lateness can be overcome yet.

Merchants while of course depending on the profit which they make from the sale of their goods, also depend on the good will of their customers, and the frequency of their visits, at which time they make purchases. A dependable bargain makes and holds customers, and draws new ones to that particular store. The bargains offered by the merchants of Albany on the initial Trade Day Saturday, is a revelation to the buying public. The many stores included in the Trade Day program at that time, have made ample arrangements to handle the large crowds which were drawn here by the attractive prices at which seasonable merchandise can be bought. It is an oasis in the commercial world which has not been available for the past few years.

Trained minds, hands and eyes can with mallet and chisel carve from a rough stone a most beautiful object. They can see the object in the minds eye before the work is started. They work to a given purpose, an objective. Carving life's destiny is almost the same identical thing. The difference is, one cannot do this for you; it must be the acts of ones self. Character building is a faculty of the individual. Material things can be given one, but the fabric of character must be wrought in the mind, and through the daily acts of the individual. It is a self made product, shapen and formed by the will of the one who has it in the making. It is the acts one does through the years, stretching out through the span of an entire life which holds character in its grasp; the daily composite acts of a life time.

An opportunity never extended out into a tomorrow; its presence is only seen in the activities of today. Therefore, a tomorrow opportunity does not exist. Lay hold of it today.

To properly and successfully overcome the handicaps along the way of life, has been the problem which has confronted mortal man since the dawn of civilization.

Greed is at the bottom of most of the neighborhood disturbances of the times, and everywhere else as well. Greed for gain has caused men to become shorn of all their manliness. Greed for gain under the guise of law, has taken the shelter from many, and bread from the mouths of those who needed it. Greed for gain has pushed the unfortunate down, down, deeper and deeper into the vault of poverty, and extracted from them every vestige of the material things which they once possessed.

It is claimed there are millions and millions of bogus bonds and counterfeit money in circulation. Perhaps this accounts for the vast improvement in business.

It might be Henry Ford would not cut the fertilizer bill half into, but about 999,999 out of every 1,000,000 would like to see him try it.

There is nothing mythological about better business conditions having arrived. Now the question is—don't let them leave.

The way Russia has allowed the Bolsheviks to mingle and disfigure her, no wonder she is not recognized.

If you pass counterfeit money—that is a crime and you will suffer for it. If you propagate some lying slander the more the merrier.

To have the proper regard for self, it is not necessary to be selfish; to be manly, it is not necessary to be manish or a bully.

Homes depend for their happiness not so much as the quality of the building, but what kind of home life rules within its walls. Not how much splendor is visible from the outside, but how much real enjoyment is possible within.

As for the weather, assume that there will be frequent showers, until further notice.

MISS MARGUERITE K. O'LEARY, of Reading, Pa., who says she has gained eight pounds and can hardly find words to express her praise for Tanlac for the good the medicine did her.

"I am so happy over what Tanlac has done for me I can hardly find words to express my praise," said Miss Marguerite K. O'Leary, who lives with her parents at 1223 Chestnut St., Reading, Pa. "I wasn't exactly what would be called sick, but for a year I had been all run down and sometimes felt so weak and miserable I could hardly hold up my head. I was so nervous the telephone bell or a door closing would startle me so I would tremble like a leaf.

"I needed something to build me up and give me strength and energy, and that is exactly what Tanlac did. It gave me a fine appetite and improved my digestion. I gained eight pounds, the color came back to my face, my nerves became normal and I soon felt as well as I ever did in my life. It is simply wonderful that medicine could make such a big change in any one. My friends and neighbors are surprised when they see me now, and no wonder, for I took like a different person. Tanlac is grand and I never intend to miss a chance to say a good word about it.

SATURDAY CLUB

The Saturday Club met with Miss Mary Turley last week at her home on Line street. An unusual and enjoyable feature of the afternoon was a recitation of part of the Birds Day program which was carried out at the Decatur School on Friday which was Birds Day in Alabama, the parts being taken by Miss Yarbrough and Ernest Tillery. A piano solo by Miss Stella Ziff was also much enjoyed.

The regular program was in charge of Mrs. B. F. Austin and Mrs. Earl Calvin, assisted by Miss Lillian Odum, Mrs. E. J. Polhill, Mrs. Baird, Mrs. Penney and Mrs. Hurston. The subject being, "Local Survey". At the business session it was voted on to donate $5.00 to the Childrens Aid Society of Alabama. PHINIZY-MCLEOD Beautiful in its elegant simplicity was the wedding of Miss Edna McLeod and Mr. Don W. Phinizy, of Courtland, Ala., which took place on Wednesday, April 26, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Fannie McLeod, in Brooksville, Miss. A large circle of relatives and friends witnessed the ceremony, and they were received at the door by Mrs. S. A. Scott, of West Point, who wore peach-colored organdie trimmed with pipings of blue. The register was presided over by Mrs. R. B. McLeod, of Hattiesburg, who wore a lovely frock of pink organdie. Punch was served by Mrs. Calvin Hambrick and Miss Sue McLeod.

The arch in the wide hall was made a bower of Southern smilax and pink tulips, and on each side stood tall pedestals holding French baskets filled with peonies. Under this arch the marriage vows were taken, the Rev. Mr. Newman, pastor of the Presbyterian Church performing the impressive ceremony.

Just prior to the ceremony, Miss Lucile Glenn, of Columbus, sang sweetly, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told", accompanied by Miss Mattie Hunter, of Macon. The wedding march was played by little Miss Fannie Dell McLeod.

The bridal party entered from opposite doors, the bride with her brother, Mr. R. B. McLeod, of Hattiesburg, and the bridegroom attended by his best man, Mr. Early Phinizy, of Albany, Ala. Miss Nancy E. Leslie, of West Point, served as maid of honor, and wore a lovely silver gray crepe de chine gown and carried white peonies tied with pink tulle.

The bride was lovely in a beaded gown of midnight blue silk crepe with accessories of black, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink Radiance rosebuds and ferns.

After the ceremony brick cream and angel food cake were served.

The wedding is of unusual interest in this city, where the bride has many friends made while on visits to her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. McLeod, at their bungalow home on Walnut street. She is a member of a prominent Mississippi family.

The out-of-town guests were Mr. P. W. Phinizy, father of the groom, of Jasper, Ala.; Mr. Early Phinizy, brother of the groom, of Albany, Ala.; Miss Lucile Glenn and Mr. Miller, of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Falkville News

One of the loveliest hospitalities of the season was extended on last Monday afternoon when Mrs. Perry Patterson and Mrs. J. B. Patterson jointly entertained the Missionary Societies of the town at the home of the latter. The lower floor of this elegant home was opened en suite to the guests and lovely spring flowers were tastefully arranged throughout the apartment. Mrs. M. F. Patterson presided over the meeting most graciously and a splendid program was rendered. More than sixty ladies enjoyed this entertainment at the close of which dainty refreshments were served. The out of town guests who lent charm to the occasion were Mrs. E. L. Hays, of Hartselle, Mrs. N. M. Tucker, of Linden, Mrs. Cobb, of Vinefont and Mrs. Hall, of Ark.

The school of music in Falkville came to a close on Tuesday night with a splendid recital. Much work was done to make this a success, and Mr. Hartselle is to be congratulated. The numbers consisted of piano and vocal selections, widely varied and chosen with the desire to please and entertain all music lovers. The two medals were presented to the winners at the close of the evening program. Miss Ruby White was awarded the medal for the best record during the entire year. This was presented by Rev. J. A. Clark. Miss Katie Parker won in the contest on last Saturday night and the medal was presented by Dr. J. B. Elliott.

Policeman Steele tendered his resignation this week in order to consider other business propositions. His successor has not been named.

At the meeting of the City Council this week Sid Parker was chosen to fill the unexpired term of Councilman Elbert Drinkard.

Mrs. Cad Russell and splendid little sons are visiting in South Alabama.

After spending the winter most pleasantly in Florida, Mrs. Green has returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Clark.

Mrs. Hall, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. William Beasley, went to Hartselle Wednesday for a visit with relatives.

Mrs. Mamm is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Howell.

On account of so much rain "clean up" day has been postponed till May 10th.

FUNERAL HELD

Funeral services were held yesterday afternoon for Mrs. Dely Smith, of Lacon, who died at her late residence. Services were conducted by Rev. J. E. Garrison. Mrs. Smith accepted Christ early in her life and was a devout Christian worker. She is survived by two sisters and two brothers, the latter being W. C. and S. H. Higdon, of Albany.

TEN NATIONAL PARKS LINKED BY GRAND CIRCLE MOTOR ROUTE

HOUSEKEEPING ON THE ROAD AT BANFF MOTOR CAMP A THRILLING BIT OF ROAD THROUGH SINCLAIR CANYON ON THE GRAND CIRCLE

One last link, only a few miles in length, remains to be built to complete the 6,000 mile Grand Circle Motor Tour highway. This section will be finished by late summer to the joy of hosts of motorists who are eagerly anticipating the possibilities of this tour. What does this mean? It means that motorists may start at Calgary, Alberta—this being a loop highway, they may start at any other point they desire—travel through the grassy foothills to the great front door of the Canadian Rockies which is also the gateway to the Banff National Park. At Banff a fine campsite as well as several good hotels will be found where tourists may linger to bathe in the radiant hot springs, play golf among the clouds or fish in the nearby streams.

From Banff the road runs westward to Castle, where a detour leads to lovely Lake Louise and to Moraine Lake in its sublime setting of the Valley of the Ten Peaks. Returning, the road ascends, by easy grades, to Vermilion Pass, 5,264 feet, then drops down to the Columbia Valley, through the Kootenai National Park, to Lake Windermere with its delightful camp of rustic cabins and the village of Invermere. Every mile of the way through the Canadian Parks has been built with an eye to easy traveling and scenic grandeur. Giant peaks rear their snowy helmets on either hand. Deer, wild sheep, elk and goat may be seen feeding fearlessly on the slopes and practically every valley cups a blue lake stocked with trout. From the Divide the highway runs through hitherto unopened country rich in scenic beauty and big game. From Invermere it drops south, skirts beautiful Windermere and Columbia Lakes and then winds through deep-shaded forests to cross the International Boundary just north of Meteline, Wash. From Bonner's Ferry it swings south over well constructed roads through Spokane, Walla Walla and Pendleton to link up with the Columbia Highway at Portland. Then it drops down to pass the eastern gateway to Crater Lake National Park, to San Francisco and Los Angeles. A detour includes Yosemite Valley park and the return may embrace Grand Canyon, Salt Lake, Yellowstone and Glacier National Parks. A short run west from Cardston to Waterton Lakes Park is well worth while.

Story Told Of Flood In Texas

An interesting story is told of the Texas flood in the following letter received by relatives from Ollie Schrieke:

May 1, 1922

Dear Mother:
I received your letter and will say that we sent you a paper relating about the flood, and I must say it was some sight.

The Trinity river is just back of the court house, which is on end, or rather mid-way of Main street, and the river separates North Fort Worth and Arlington Heights from us. We live in the south-east part which is high. There is a little swag about two or three blocks from here where the land drains, and it washed a little negro church off of its foundation.

We drove to Dallas yesterday, and as the road is paved all the way (thirty-two miles) just like Moulton Street. The rail road lines run near the road. Men were working on the tracks which are about six feet above the road in places. The flood washed the tracks away and there was nothing left except just little pieces of iron bent up.

As soon as the water went down, off the streets, the city with additional help, cleared away all of the brush, lumber and houses, and we could then

Mrs. T. C. Spight returned Saturday from a visit to relatives in Texas, accompanied by her sister, Mrs. J. W. Simmons, of Brownwood, Texas, who will in future reside here.

It is the common opinion that the Irish dearly love a scrap and that without something to stir their passions they would become dull and spiritless. Is this opinion justified? drive on them. We had to drive slower than in a funeral procession, as there were so many people out to see the sights. All that could be seen of some houses was only some sewer pipes and gas pipes sticking out of the ground. Then you would see a nice house, with a house turned on its side lying up against it just like the flood had left it. In other places you could see houses jammed under and against a big bridge. Then as we got on out further on higher ground where the water got above the window sills, we could see people carrying out things and bringing in

American Singer Named As World's Perfect Baritone

"The perfect baritone"—that's the latest superlative to be applied to Reinald Werrenrath, concert idol. "Handsomest baritone," "most popular" and even "most sartorially exquisite" are titles his admirers have given to him in the past. But when it came to the temerity of awarding the golden apple for singing, even some of them came to a halt.

It remained for Dorothy Donnelly, author of "Blossom Time,"

New York's favorite musical play, built on the life and music of Franz Schubert, to take the courageous step. She wanted a singer to put the great baritone song of the play, "Tell Me Daisy," on the records for the first time, and she naturally longed for the perfect baritone. "I found him," she declared happily announcing her selection, "and best of all he is not a foreign singer but a one hundred per cent American—Reinald Werrenrath, perfect baritone."

COTTON MARKET

(International News Service)

1. NEW YORK, May 8. —Influenced by strong cables from Liverpool heavy spot sales there, a better textile labor outlook in this country and unfavorable advices, the local cotton market was firm at the opening today, a net advance of 13 to 40 points being made. The upturn was well maintained later, in the face of heavy realizing through commission houses and selling by spot concerns.

Japanese interests were buyers of both positions and New Orleans also was a purchaser, while there was a good deal of new outside demand in evidence.

The entertainment for excellence of the season will be the "Womanless Wedding" on Friday evening at the Princess. —Advt. 11

MRS. EDMUNDSON IS BACK FROM MADISON

Mrs. W. B. Edmundson, candidate for congress from the eighth district, has returned to her home here, after a busy campaign trip through Madison. She expressed much gratification over the reception given her candidacy in that county. She delivered several addresses, among them one in Huntsville, where she was heard by an overflow crowd.

Speaking of Mrs. Edmundson's visit there, The Huntsville Daily Times says:

"Mrs. Edmundson Makes Very Fine Congressional Speech"

It was not so much the good crowd present as it was her speech and impressed us so favorably last night. This refers to the presence and speech of Mrs. W. B. (Lella Seton) Edmundson, candidate for congress in the 8th Alabama Congressional district. Mrs. Edmundson spoke to a full house at the county court house. The very inclement night did not seem to hold back the crowd. No doubt a great many were there out of curiosity, the novelty of the thing but it must be admitted that if this is what they went for, disappointment was their reward. Mrs. Edmundson spoke with force, she showed that she knows what she is talking about and, frankly, she made a fine impression on her hearers. There is no getting around the fact that a woman, a real woman is making the race for congress in the 8th Alabama district and her force in the campaign is going to be felt. Mrs. Edmundson appeals especially in behalf of the farmers expressing disappointment that more has not been done for Muscle Shoals and the development of this valley and promises that if she is sent to congress she will either deliver the goods or quit and come home. We must all admire such a pluck and energy.

ALICE IS CERTAIN ANY PROFITEER IS LOBSTER

(International News Service) SAN DIEGO, Cal., May 6. —Avowing to police Headquarters that she is "mighty glad you has declared war on lobster profiteers", Alice Debow, negress, appealed to officers for protection from high prices charged by her groceryman. "But your groceryman isn't a fish dealer," Detective Chadwick told the woman. "Anyway, we have nothing to do with this lobster profiteer war."

"I knows my groceryman don't sell fish," replied the dusky Alice, "but he's a profiteer — and all profiteers is lobsters."

Piano Recital At Converse College

(Spartanburg Herald)
In Converse college auditorium last evening before a large and enthusiastic audience of friends and music lovers, Miss Mary Brooks pupil of Dr. John Carver Alden, senior professor of piano at Converse college, gave her graduating recital. The program that Miss Brooks played had been selected with care, and both in the selections and their order of arrangement, showed the fine musician that Dr. Alden is well known to be.

Miss Brooks showed thorough and splendid training; she had poise, dignity, a grasp of the musical contents of the pieces she played, and an admirable technique. It is not sufficient to have a facile and shallow technique; it is necessary to have one's musical understanding developed along with one's digital dexterity. Miss Julia Klumpke's accompaniment on the violin was a finished performance; the work exhibited complete mastery of the instrument and gave a new angle to Miss Brooks' talent.

Miss Daphne Graves, also, a pupil of Dr. Alden, had a place in the program, and her work was wonderfully beautiful, the tone and touch being superb.

The program showed Dr. Alden's great ability in selecting numbers suitable to pianists. His musicianship and fine personality have influenced Spartanburg through nineteen years and raised the standard of excellence in appreciation of the best in piano music.

Program
Following program was rendered:
Theme and Variations, Op. 82—Mendelssohn
Melodie—Rubinstein
Tarentelle, Op. 27—Moscowski
Sonata for violin and piano (in ancient style) Op. 99—Un poco maestoso

Miss Klumpke and Brooks Polonaise Fantaisie, Op. 61—Chopin
Concerto in D minor, for Piano of orchestra—Mozart
Allegro—Romanze—Rondo
Orchestra part played by Miss Graves second piano.

Miss Daphne Graves, who played the second piano on the program, is the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Graves. To her was conferred an unusual honor when she, a sophomore, appeared with a graduate in music at Converse, her excellence at the piano being recognized by Dr. John Carver Alden, senior professor of piano at Converse college, the many friends of Miss Graves it is a distinct pleasure to note the steady progress she is making.

Commencement sermon for the closing exercises of the Morgan county high school was preached Sunday at eleven o'clock in the First Christian Church by Rev. J. A. Duncan, of Tuscaloosa. The large church was comfortably filled. The preacher took for his text, a certain passage of scripture which read thus: "We know that thou art a teacher come from God, etc."

The sermon was a great plea for a righteous life founded in God as the source of all good. Eloquently he pictured the mysteries of nature, and wrought from them great truths which he called upon the graduates to accept as the rule and guide of their life's work and activities. "We must believe much which we cannot fathom or understand," said the speaker. The graduates numbered 38. The large audience was held in rapt attention throughout the discourse.

Preceding the sermon the glee club under the direction of Miss Lucy ones rendered two choruses which were greatly enjoyed. At 2:30 Sunday evening a recital was given in the high school auditorium by the class in music and expression. The week will be taken up with entertainments, singing to a close according to the principal, one of the most successful terms since the school was established.

Two Morgan school graduates have been signally honored recently by their schools. At the University of Alabama John J. Sparkman has been elected president of the student body. Like honor has just been conferred on Miss Lizzie Reid Penn, at Woman's College, Montgomery. Both graduates of the Morgan County high school having left behind them records which indicated their successful future. These young people are from Hartselle, and their many friends here are greatly elated over the successes which have quite recently come to them.

A very charming courtesy was extended Miss Norine Orr, whose marriage to Mr. Brush is to be an event of May 10th, when Mesdames C. L. Orr and J. B. Orr were joint hostesses entertaining with a miscellaneous bouquet at the home of Mrs. C. L. Orr. The rooms on the lower floor were browned together and beautifully decorated with baskets and vases of roses of and sweet peas. A delightful musical and reading program was given, after which little Francis Lee, fairy like in pink organdy with orchid ribbons came in drawing an express wagon loaded high with gifts. The color scheme of pink and orchid was carried out in the delicious ice course which was served. About sixty guests registered in the bride's book which was kept by Miss Wilma Kent.

The announcement was made at the First Christian church Sunday morning, that Hon. Bob Graves would address the voters of Hartselle next Wednesday evening at the city hall at 2:30 o'clock. This will be the first political speech delivered by either of the candidates for governor in this county during the present campaign. Judge Brandon is a great favorite at Hartselle, and will carry the box by an overwhelming majority.

Much uneasiness is being felt over the county on the fact that the continued rains make it impossible to plant the cotton crop. Early planting and intensive cultivation was the plan according to the planters which was followed the present year. In conversation with one of the largest cotton planters in the county recently he said: I will plant cotton up to the 25th of May. This planter is putting in about 500 acres. He now has only about 100 acres of this amount planted. There are three planters in the county who will have 500 acres to cotton this season provided it can be planted. The Mascot Combination Range

An entirely new principle of gas oven construction is embodied in the Mascot Combination Range. Its remarkable heat efficiency is gained through the patented secondary-air intake, which automatically feeds the proper amount of air simultaneously with the gas. This secondary air is forced through an air chamber in the oven flue, where it is superheated before reaching the oven. Thus warmed air comes in contact with the gas flame, intensifying instead of retarding the heat. The large burner at the bottom of the oven gives an even blue flame that heats to a baking temperature in about half the time of the ordinary combination range. The exit flue, at the top of the oven, provides escape for all fumes and odors, as well as affording a means of ventilation for the air in exact proportion to the amount taken in. This exit flue insures absolute safety from explosion from gas fumes, which are thrown off to the main flue of the range. It will be seen that the wonderful heat principle of the Mascot Coal and Wood range, which is retained intact in the Mascot Gas, Coal and Wood range, has a counterpart in this new principle of gas oven heating. Remarkable improvements over the ordinary gas range have been made in the top burners, the automatic air feeders giving a solid blue flame, and affording unusual heat efficiency and fuel economy.
